To Attorney General Jefferson Beauregard Sessions
(or whomever Trump has appointed to replace him),

I am writing to you today in support of Americans' rights to access medicinal cannabis. Did you know that a great number of American heroes, our veterans, rely on medicinal cannabis to help treat their PTSD and chronic pain? And you're not against our vets, are you? ARE YOU?

It's not just veterans that rely on it; it's a full swath of America: children with epilepsy, cancer patients, chronic pain sufferers. Even more Americans support their right to have it. For example, I am _____ from _____ and I think medicinal cannabis should be accessible because _____. As a supporter, I ask that you reinstate the Cole and Ogden memos and start another review process to reschedule marijuana. And, for what it's worth, I support the Marijuana Justice Act and think it should pass! I know it's not up you but I still wanted you to know.

Also, Mr. Attorney General, what do you have against marijuana? Is it just that nobody's ever offered it to you? Well, here's your official offer: I ask that you meet with some medicinal cannabis users and hear why they need access to this drug. For your convenience, the bottom of this form has been reserved for you to practice rolling a joint.

Best,

Jeff, if you want to give it a try, use this area to practice rolling a joint.
